The musical score is written for piano in 6/8 time, featuring a key signature of one flat (B-flat). It consists of five systems of music, each with a treble and bass staff joined by a brace. The notation includes various musical symbols such as notes, rests, beams, slurs, and dynamic markings like 'f' (forte) and 'mf' (mezzo-forte). The score concludes with a double bar line and a repeat sign, followed by two first and second endings. The paper is aged and shows some wear, with tape visible along the left edge.

Albert & Son, 137 King Street, Sydney.

Dear Sirs.—As far back as May 6, 1899, I won the Australian Championship, a Gold Medal, and a purse of Sovereigns with your Professional Boomerang Mouth Organ in a contest at the Golden Gate Club, George Street, Sydney. Since then circumstances compelled me to play other brands, but eventually came to the conclusion (after an additional experience of eight years theatrical work) that there is no Mouth Organ in Australasia equal in quality of sound, accuracy of intonation, carrying power, and easy embouchure to the BOOMERANG MOUTH ORGAN. You will be pleased to learn that I have now decided to play at all future public concerts and private entertainments on no other instrument but the Professional Boomerang. Wishing you every success. Yours sincerely,
(Signed) WALTER OMOND.
