1. Once there lived
2. Next day two side by side, two lit-tle maids, Used to dress just a-like, hair down in braids, Blue ging'am lit-tle maids each oth-er miss, Quarrels are soon made up, sealed with a kiss, Then hand in pin-a-fores, stockings of red, Lit-tle sun bonnets tied on each pretty head. When school was hand a-gain, hap-py they go, Friends all thro' life to be, they love each oth-er so. Soon school days ov-er se-crets they'd tell, Whisper-ing arm in arm, down by the well, One day a pass a-way, sorrows and bliss But love re-mem-bers yet, quar-rels and kiss, In sweet dreams quar-rel came, hot tears were shed:— "You can't play in our yard," But the oth-er said:

of childhood, we hear the cry:— "You can't play in our yard," And the old re - ply:

CHORUS.

I don't want to play in your yard, I don't like you a - ny more,— You'll be sor-ry when you see me, rall. Slid-ing down our cel-lar door,— a tempo You can't hol-ler down our rainbarrel, You can't climb our ap-ple-

f tree,— rall. I don't want to play in your yard, If you won't be good to me.—
