JOE SANDERS

Author of the song hit "Harold Teen" and co-director with Carleton Coon, of the ether-famous Original Nighthawks. Musician with a big M, he's given the American public such hits as "Beloved," "Until Yesterday" and "Little Orphan Annie." Now he's written "Harold Teen"—and it's going over with a bang!

Famous *from coast to coast
as radio's bluest band—*

Famous for hot tunes, blue tunes, any old tunes—

Known everywhere as the meanest, moaningest aggregation of joy-spreaders ever brought together in one studio—

That's the reputation of Coon-Sanders Original Nighthawks! Every one of them, from Carleton Coon, the demon drummer—Joe Sanders, co-director—to every man on the band—knows his notes from A to G and back down again—and knows how to make them shiver all the way!

Hear them play Joe's own sensational song hit "Harold Teen" and all the latest popular music, exclusively on W-G-N!

CARLETON COON

The alter ego of the Nighthawks, drummer boy extraordinary, and famed for his between-tune radio stories that have become classics of studio comedy. He's a tom-tom beating Trojan—and oh! how he gets it across through that old loud-speaker.

HAROLD TEEN—IN THE TRIBUNE EVERY DAY

Now he's up in the air!

Hot pups . . . touchdowns and half-backs . . . leaping lenas and ga loping pantaloons! And now he's looping loops in a flying egg-crate!

You can't keep him down—Harold Teen is the original, one-and-only, high-flying, ahead-of-time sundae buster, in or out of high school! Fresh and up-to-the-minute as tomorrow morning's Tribune, he is the spirit of young 1929! He's a rompin', rarin' Romeo—calls his Juliet Lillums and sets the fashion in clothes and wise cracks for the high-schools of the land.

Follow the fast and furious existence of Harold Teen in the columns of the Chicago Tribune. Get a fresh jolt from the fountain of youth—every day and every Sunday from this irresponsible juvenile comic!
