WHEN THE SERGEANT MAJOR'S ON PARADE.

When the sun is shining bright,
Dispelling all the dews of night,
With Sam Browne belt and buttons bright
Behold the Sergeant Major.
Batman makes my army bed
And soon my boots a lustre shed;
He turns me out from foot to head
A dapper Sergeant Major.
Then woe to them that meet my eye;
They never do, they turn and fly!

When I'm here on parade in the Square
How the folks passing by turn and stare,
For they say "This beats the band;
The way he handles the men is grand!"
When I shout birds fly out, daisies fade;
I've a way that must be obeyed.
N.C.O's say I bite,
While recruits die of fright
When the Sergeant Major's on parade.

Eyes as keen as sparrow-hawk
Or like a lobster on a stalk,
No nudge or wink or smile or talk
Escapes the Sergeant Major.
True, I've got a fearful name,
And folks say it's a crying shame;
They'd like to kill or halt or maim
"That fiend" the Sergeant Major.
But that's the proper Army style;
And now and then they see me smile.

When I'm here on parade in the Square
How the folks passing by turn and stare,
For they say "This beats the band;
The way he handles the men is grand!"
When I shout birds fly out, daisies fade;
I've a way that must be obeyed.
N.C.O's say I bite,
While recruits die of fright
When the Sergeant Major's on parade.

Pick 'em up! Pick 'em up!
What the! Where the! Who!
Pick 'em up! Pick 'em up!
Coal fatigue for you!
Is that the way we won Waterloo?
Come along, come along,
Jump to it, my lad!
If you don't, you'll hear me call
A spade a spade.
Party, 'shun! The Sergeant Major's on parade!
