NEWS RELEASE:

"TWELFTH NIGHT" AT GLENDON COLLEGE

William Shakespeare's Twelfth Night is this year's major production of York University's Glendon College Dramatic Arts Programme, starting February 24.

This, one of the best-loved of Shakespeare's comedies, will be the tenth-anniversary production of Glendon's small and intimate theatre programme through which have passed Kate Nelligan (Rosalind in As You Like It for the Royal Shakespeare Company and the British critics' Most Promising Actor of 1976), Jack Wetherall (Orlando in Stratford's As You Like It), several Guthrie Award winners, this year's Chalmers Award winner Christopher Blake, as well as a number of production managers, stage managers, and technicians who are now with major Canadian and British companies.

Professor Michael Gregory, founder of the programme, will be directing a cast and crew comprised mostly of Glendon students. Set design is by Ted Paget, and costume design by Caroline Gregory. The production will be staged in an arena format in THEATRE GLENDON.

Opening night is Friday, February 24, at 8 p.m. Thereafter daily at 8 p.m. until March 5 incl. No matinée performances.

Admission is $3, but special group rates for 10 or more persons are available by calling 487-6250 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Glendon College is located at 2275 Bayview Avenue, at Lawrence.

For additional information and reservations, call 487-6250.
