

DANIIL KHARMS'

CASES

DIRECTED BY: Aleksandar Lukac

ADAPTED BY: 3955: Approaches to Theatre

How does one cope with suffering? Often, through the freedom that only the mind can offer. But what happens when said mind is as twisted as that of renowned Absurdist Daniil Kharms?

Adapted from Kharms' original short stories, Cases is a collective work by Glendon College's own 3955: Approaches to Theatre. Incorporating experimental video, live music and dance, this production promises to take the audience on a surreal trip through the landscape of an artist's mind.
