[The story of this song is taken from life. Among the gallant marines who established and defended Camp McCalla at Guantanamo, Cuba, was a young recruit whose mysterious air caused his comrades to refer to him as the "Sphinx." When the time for action came, however, the "Sphinx" showed his true mettle by rescuing an officer who was left for dead on the field; to do this he fought and vanquished five of the enemy. It was afterwards discovered that he was an escaped prisoner. In recognition of his heroism a pardon was granted him, and eventually he was reunited with his fiancé, who had mourned him as dead for many months
