LOCHINVAR.

Words by SIR WALTER SCOTT.

Allegretto.

1. O, young Lochin - var is come out of the west, Thro'
2. So boldly he enter'd the Nether - by Hall, Among all the wide bor - der his steed was the best; And save his good broad - sword he bridesmen, and kins - men, and bro - thers, and all; Then spoke the bride's father, his weapon had none, And he rode all un - arm'd, and he rode all - a - lone. So hand on his sword, (For the poor craven bridegroom said ne - ver a word,) "O bride had con - sent-ed, the gallant came late; For a lag - gard in love, and a lead but one measure, drink one cup of wine. There are maidens in Scot - land more dastard in war, Was to wed the fair El - len of brave Lochin - var.

love - ly by far, That would gladly be bride to the young Lochin - var."

The bride kiss'd the goblet; the knight took it up,
He quaff'd off the wine, and he threw down the cup,
She look'd down to blush, and she looked up to sigh,
With a smile on her lips, and a tear in her eye,
He took her soft hand, ere her mother could bar,—
"Now tread we a measure," said young Lochinvar.
So stately his form, and so lovely his face,
There was never a hall such a galliard did grace;
While her mother did fret, and her father did fume,
And the bridegroom stood dangling his bonnet and plume;
And the bride maidens whisper'd, "twere better by far
To have match'd our fair cousin with young Lochinvar."

One touch to her hand, and one word to her ear,
When they reach'd the hall-door, and the charger stood near;
So light to the croupe the fair lady he swung,
So light to the saddle before her he sprung!
"She is won! we are gone, over bank, bush and scaur;
They'll have fleet steeds that follow," quoth young Lochinvar.
There was mounting 'mong Graemes of the Netherby clan,
Forsters, Fenwicks, and Musgraves, they rode and they ran;
There was racing and chasing on Cannobie Lee,
But the lost bride of Netherby ne'er did they see.
So daring in love, and so dauntless in war,
Have ye e'er heard of gallant like young Lochinvar?"
