As part of the 25th Anniversary celebration of theatre at Glendon, Theatre Glendon is hosting a number of special events, as well as presenting its regular season of student productions.

The first of our special events, a one-night (only) appearance of the experimental theatre company, Da Da Kamera, next Monday, October 1st, introduces a series of productions that won critical and commercial success at the Toronto Fringe Festival last July. So far, this series consists of three different events spread throughout the year, each addressing the theme of "sexual politics" that provides the general framework for all of our presentations this year.

Da Da Kamera, the brain-child of the very busy Toronto actor/director/playwright Daniel McIvor (last year he won a Dora Mavor Moore award for directing White Trash Blue Eyes; currently he appears in the Buddies in Bad Times' production Ban This Show! at Beaver Hall), is devoted to creating and producing non-linear work that follows the traditions of Dadaistic performance.

For its Glendon appearance, the company will present 2 -2 Tango, a "pointilistic" performance-piece that integrates acappella singing with repetitive vocal and physical gymnastics to trace the evolution of the sexual and emotional relationship of two men. McIvor has written and directed this serio-comic piece with his co-actor in the show, Steve Cumyn.

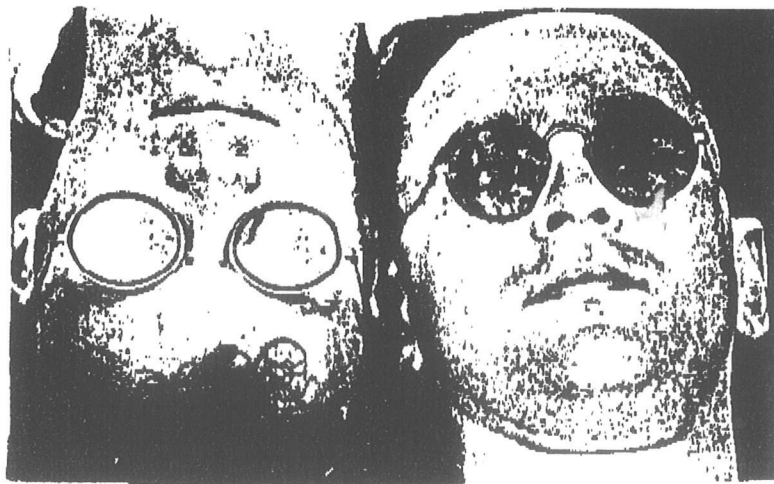

To round out the evening, Da Da Kamera will present a number of short works-in-progress, offering the audience the opportunity to interact with the performers -- to discuss both their work and their creative process.

Ticket prices are $4. for students and $5. for non-students. Show-time is 8:00, with the Theatre box office open at 7:30 pm.
