Heaven Will Protect The Working Girl

(A Burlesque Ballad)

Lyrics by EDGAR SMITH
Music by A. BALDWIN SLQANE

Moderato

Voice

A village maid was leaving home with tears her eyes were wet. Her dear old Moth-er's words proved true for soon the poor girl met. A moch-er dear was stand-ing near the spot She says to her Neu-ra-l-gia' dearn. I man who on her ru-in was in-tent He treat-ed her re-spect-ful asthose hope you won't for-get vil-lains al-ways do That Im the on-ly moth-er you have got. The And she sup-posed he was a per-fect gent. But City is a wicked place as anyone can see, And she found different when one night she went with him to dine.

Cruel dangers 'round your path may hurl.
To a table d'hote so blythe and gay;

Every week you'd better send your wages back to me, For he says to her After this we'll have a demitasse; Then,

Heaven will protect a working girl."

Chorus

You are going far away, But remember what I say, When Stand back villain, go your way, Here I will no longer stay. Although you were a Marquis or an Earl

From temple You may tations crimes and follies, Villains taxi-cabs and trolleys Oh!

tempt the upper class-es With your villain-ous dem-itas-es But...

Heaven will protect a working girl.

Heaven will protect a working girl.
