Just a
For a glance in your eyes my bonnie Kate, Then day is to come my bonnie Kate,

over the sea go I;
While the

joy in our heart shall reign;
And we'll seagulls circle around the ship, And the laugh to think of the dangers past, When you billy waves roll high, And For rest in my arms again.

over the sea and away my Kate, Aback to your heart I will sail my Kate, With far to the distant west;
love that is staunch and true;

But In

ever and ever a thought I'll have, for the storm or in calm there's a Star of Hope, That is lassie who loves me best:

always to shine for you:

THE SUPREME ACHIEVEMENT IN SONGCRAFT

The songs in this series represent the most beautiful of better-class numbers. They are worthy of the art of the greatest singers of English songs and ballads, yet each is within the range and ability of the average vocalist and pianist. In the melodies, in the words, dwell those qualities that make of music the "sunshine of existence." Never before have there been songs to equal these in beauty. Even the cover designs are unique works of art. In each song there is to be found "The Artist's Aid," a neat folder containing the words in concise form for the convenience of the artist. No detail has been overlooked to make the series ideal from every standpoint.
