On a bright summer's day, two Soon the years passed away, since children at play, Where the roses perfume the that summer's day, When the man meets the maid so

Said the cute little boy to the fair:
Then said he with a smile to the sweet little miss, "Wont you loan me your Teddy bear?"
"Oh! oh! where is your Teddy bear?"

But the maid hung her head, while softly she said, "No, I wont cause I love him."
But the miss hung her head, while Why, I lost him some years a-

Then the lad turned away, and said
Then the man took his cue, and said

Now I won't play, you'll be sorry I guess when I go.
I've loved you, too, since the day that you treated me so.

CHORUS.

Stingy stingy you're as stingy as can be stingy stingy

Stingy 4.
Spoken ad lib.

Why can't you be good to me? Ain't you got a little love to spare Old colla voce.

Stingy Stingy Why can't you love, me too?

STINGY And

that means you... you...
