CHORUS

Music by TED S. BARRON

'Tis a picture to remember, till the very end of Time And I long to be back there with you alone kiss you and caress you as I did long years ago In the shadow of the dear old Blarney Stone.

Shame on you lad! you're a naughty boy
You may be sure in the future, dear,
Un-kind it appears Has-ty words will

See your little girl in tears: Shame on you girl! He's so pen-i-tent
Both of you will feel so glum _ Then, lit-tle girl, be re-mem-ber-ing

Did - n't mean a thing _ Don't you know the sun-shine
Hot words are_ in vain _ You will find it cheer-y

Fol - lows af - ter rain-time Listen to your sweet-heart sing._
When he calls you dear-ie, When he sings the old re-frain._

CHORUS

Lit - tle one, the sky is clear-ing Let me see your rain-bow Little one, don't be repining

Wait a minute, dearie, till the sun is shining Come a long and don't be sighing Crying's out of style so, Pucker up your lips and when I kiss you Let me see your rainbow smile.

If Ever I Forget You
Lyrics by FRANK TANNERHILL
Music by TED S. BARRON

If ever I forget you, May the sun forget to shine. May the world begin its end. And stop the Hand of Time.

Lyrics by JEAN C. HAYEZ
Music by TED S. BARRON

'Tis a picture to remember, till the very end of Time and long to be back there with you a long time. Just to kim you and bear you as I did long years ago in the what was of the dear old Blarney Stone.

Lit-tle one, the sky is clear ing. Let me see your rainbow smile. Lit-tle one, don't be re- pining.

Paradise For Two Words by JEAN HAYEZ
Music by TED S. BARRON

Some rose, some kiss, some sun rise, some smile, some to-en of ten-dec-saes always, Some rose. Light that's the giv- ing dear, in your eyes. Some-times when you, call me your own, Some twi-light, some moon-light. Some walks in the lane, Some
