Allegro vivo

In the parlor sat Miss Beck-y Cohen, Next night, when young Mos-es came to call,

Moderato

With her sweet-heart, Mos-es, all a-lone, Hud-dling each oth-er Cohen had lan-ters hang-ing from the wall, He said, "I'll try to-tight, with all their might; Just as he was get-ting sweet-er, night some can-dle light, I'll make sure, no gas-light met-er, something went wrong with the meter, And the gas went out as dark as will turn out to be a cheat-er, If that Moses hugs my Beck-y night, it wasn't right. Old man Cohen be-gan to hol-ler, Some-one change me tight, there'll be a fight.” But when they burned to the bot-tom, Just as if a cannon shot him, Cohen with fright fell down up-on his head, like he was dead.

When he got the house all light-ed, Beck-y watched him get ex-cit-ed,
In a min-ute he re-cov-ered, Got new can-dles from the cup-board, Then Cohen cried, when Moses said, "Good night!"
Then called Becky to one side and said:

CHORUS

Moderato

"I know that Mose was list-thing when you played the pi-an-er, But the light was on,
I know that Mose was lov-ing in a Yid-dish-er man-ner, But the light was on,

He kept saying, "I love you," You kept playing, "That is true,"

Yet in my mind there is a doubt, That I would like to know about. 1. 2.

Tell me, darling daughter, while I went to get that quarter, I don't want any scandal, when I went to get that candle,

Where was Moses when the light went out?" "I out?"

Where was Moses when the light went out?" "I out?"
