Chorus.

"Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray the Lord my soul to keep, If I should die before I wake, I pray the Lord my soul to take."

By a sudden impulse led, The burglar knelt beside the bed.

"Say another prayer," he said, "For the burglar and his child."

ponder,
On the scenes around my dear old rustic bound me,
Till at last I found her heart was false to me,
Now you know the reason why today I'm roaming,
Through the world of strife with heart that's filled with pain,
Still I can't forget the days spent in the gloaming,
For in day dreams those fair scenes come back to me.
With my sweetheart there amid the floral rain.

Where the apple blossoms fall.
Chorus.

Where the apple blossoms fall in the orchard, down the lane, where the robin red-breast sings his sweet refrain, there we spent life's golden hours, 'mid the sunshine and the flow'rs, where the apple blossoms fall down in the lane.
