Just A Bit Of Irish Lace

When the shadows fall
    Your voice seems to call
From the vanished used to be;
    And a charm I hold
From the days of old
    That brings you back to me

Ah! It's just a bit of Irish lace
    That you gave me long ago
But it takes me back to one dear place
    In the sweetest land I know;
And I seem to hold a part of you,
    When it's close in my embrace
Sure you must have left the heart of you
    In that bit of Irish lace

It is torn, I know,
    But I love it so
Ev'ry thread a mem'ry holds;
    And it bids me stray
To a sweeter day
    And the joys the past enfolds

My Dearest Prayer

Andante espressione

I hear in the woods your melody, When toile of the long day is through; A wonderful love song telling me, There's rest in the arms of you.
