HERBERT INGRAHAM.
Eyes Of Irish Blue.

Introduction.
Moderato.

Every land has its girls, With their dimples and curls, Roguish Sure I think 'tis the place That lends beauty and grace To each ways and their own winning wiles. Every land sings of dear little Irish colleen. For I've been a great glory, In song and in story, Of their pretty girls and their smiles.

rover, And trod the world over, But give me the harp on the green.

Ah, but I know an Island Which I claim for my land 'Tis
So 'tis me that's returning With heart that is yearning For Paddy's land o'er the sea Where the girls are like fairies So some one that I greatly prize 'Tis a dear little devil Sweet, sweet and contrary And 'tis there sure I'm longing to be.
reguish, and civil, With glorious Irish blue eyes.

CHORUS.
Here and there and every where You'll see eyes of Irish blue From

Eyes of Irish Blue. 3
ev'ry place a smiling face Looks out to welcome

you——Sure there's dancing eyes, glancing eyes, coaxing, entrancing eyes

Eyes that are roguish but true——Sure they're all hypnotizing And faith paralyzing lysing Are eyes of Irish blue.
