There's No One Just Like You

Words & Music by JOE. L. SANDERS

Moderato

Spring-time
Strang-est

young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love;
thing to me, I thought I'd never fall;

lover’s vows are sworn by stars above,
eagerly I’m answering love’s call.

Many springs have come and gone for me But now I’m caught with-Always wondered how one feels and how it really seems, And in the spell of love’s desire; I’m waiting to be taught.

now that it has come to me, I’m sure it’s just a dream.

CHORUS

Your eyes have flashed their message
Of love that is to be,
Your lips have smiled your answer
The meaning I can see;

I've searched the wide world over For

someone good and true,
But the long, long trail is ended now.

There's

no one just like you.
Your you.
