Fare Thee Well My Old Kentucky

Moderato.

Old Ken-tyc-ky’s sons, brave-ly shoulder guns, when the band begins to play—
Old Ken-tyc-ky’s sons, fight on by their guns, ’till at last the vic-t’ry’s won.

There are tears and sighs, there are fond good-byes, As they start to march a-way—
Then from far and near, comes the ring-ing cheer, “Old Ken-tyc-ky, No-bly Done!”

Off to fight the foe, boys in blue they go, Sons of men who wore the gray
But there’s sadness too, with the boys in blue, and they sigh for those who fell.
