VOICE

Pat McCarty, hale and hearty, Living in Oregon,
Pat McCarty broke the party up into smither-ees, Said "your bill of fare, would bought the great New York; He left the farm, where all was calm and landed on old Broadway, He give a bull a scare; I want to eat, but I repeat, I don't want to buy the place;"

coaxed a little Mary Ann into a swell cafe. The waiter brought the card and said,"what Mary Ann was sitting there with blushes on her face. She said,"I'll have a little steak, that's will you have," to Pat; Then Pat looked at the prices and he said "I'll have me hat" all I want right now;" And Pat said,"what it costs for steaks, why I could buy a cow!"

CHORUS

Arrah go on, I'm gonna go back to Oregon, Arrah go on, I'm gonna go back and stay. I could buy the horses man-y a bale of hay, for all that I'd have to pay to feed a chicken on old Broadway, Arrah go on, there's some-bod-y back in Oregon, Who calls me Uncle Pat, not Uncle

John; Arrah go on, go way, go wid yer go way, go wid yer go way, go on, Arrah go on, I'm gonna go back to Oregon. Arrah go-gon.
