For Dixie and Uncle Sam

Brightly (Not too fast)

In Maryland, in Maryland,
There's a mother old and gray;

Tho' far away, the boy each day,
As the western sun goes down,

A lone she stands and waves her hand
To her boy who is going away.

He mails a note he proudly wrote
In a tent near a far border town;

She said, "I'm proud of you, in your uniform of blue,
And the sword that you carry too!

And says: "Dear mother mine, when the word goes down the line
To get ready, the foe is near!"

I've watched it twice before, the danger in the air,
I reckon I'll be there, as your words still ring in my ear!"
CHORUS  With Patriotic enthusiasm in Bright March time

Your Grand-dad fought in the war of Six-ty-One,  He wore a suit of grey._

-- Your Dad- dy, too, in a suit of navy blue,  To Cu-ba sailed a-way._

Though the one wore grey and the other blue;  The blood of both's in you;  So I'm giv-ing you up to Old

Glo-ry,  And I'm might-y proud that I am!  You're all I've got, but be

Johnny on the spot,  For Dix-ie and Un-cle Sam!  Your Sam!
