VOICE

All the world is stag-gered by the Kai-ser's cru-el cheek, De-

Voice line with lyrics and piano accompaniment for the first line of the song.

fy - ing all the pow - ers, wreck - ing ven - geance on the weak Brave lit - tle Bel - gium tried her best to stop his law - less raid, Great Brit - ain stepped in - to the breach to show we're not a - fraid.

CHORUS

And we've got to do it and we mean to do it with the help of our Al - lies, And show to the Kai - ser with his big mailed fist, We're able yes and read - y his ar - my to — re - sist, We've our na - vy, we've our ar - my They both are made of sol - id stuff, We will meet him, we will beat him, and we'll show to all the world, that we wont stand the Kai - ser's bluff.

2

The Kaiser thought that he could march to Paris straight away
 And once more conquer France to show his autocratic sway
 But Belgium, Britian, France were there his little game to stop
 And now he has discovered he is in a tightish spot.

(Chorus)

3

He little thought that Ireland to a man for us would fight
 But Ireland's always ready when they know the cause is right
 John Redmond in the House of Commons raised a storm of cheers
 When he said Britian could rely on the Irish Volunteers.

(Chorus)

4

The colonies would not help us was the Kaiser's brag
 But they have proven to the world behind they will not lag
 Australia, India, Africa have rallied to our aid
 And Canada's sons have proved their worth and shown of what they're made.
