CASTLES IN LOVELAND

SONG

WORDS AND MUSIC BY

JOHN F. LEONARD.

Music Lovers Publishing Co

TORONTO, CANADA
CASTLES IN LOVELAND

Words and Music by
JOHN F. LEONARD

Tempo di Bolero

With the embers burning low, casting shadows
Stars are shining thro' the trees, music whispers

to and fro, Like a dream you come to me with the breeze, Hours are fleeting to the day

Copyright (Canada 1920) by F. W. Oates
(United States 1920) British Copyright Secured from the land of "yet to be!" And the glow of when all dreams must pass away; Still the charm of heart's desire, held within the flickering fire,

Takes us to a perfect shore, you and I and love once more.
And the land of "yet to be" ever calls to you and me.

Castles I am building in love land for you,
Set by seas of sunshine and azure blue,
Pathways of roses that lead you from Heav'n above Castles you can bring to the world with a (word of love. word of love.)