Take Off Your Hats To Old Ireland

Words by STANLEY MURPHY
Allegro moderato

Music by PERCY WENRICH

"Tell me dad-dy," said a lad-die, "Why you love your native land?"
"Tell me dad-dy," said the lad-die, "Why the sons of Erin's Isle Are always true and faithful to their sire-land?" But his larn-ey on-ly Blar-ney, dad, or is it real-ly grand?"

"Just dad-dy on-ly straight-ened up and an-swered with a smile."

Listen and I'll tell you about Ireland. Take a lovely can't help being true to dear old Ireland!
How could men be garden, where the grass is ever green, false to any land that's half so sweet,
Where the birds are always singing,
Where the Earth below and Heav'n aeverything's serene;
Where the hearts are always young and every girl's a bove both seem to meet?
I believe, the promised land that's up above for queen; That sounds like Eden, no indeed—en, that is Ireland;
man, Is built exactly on the plan of dear old Ireland.
CHORUS.

L. R. E. that's the ire and the fire you admire in your sire.

L. A. N. D. that's a land great and grand, On its merits it can stand.
